

Asking for a Friend – Does Science Disprove a Real Creator? Participant Guide

At some point in time we all have questions and doubts. Why do you think the church has typically not been a safe place to ask questions? Have you ever had questions that you felt like you couldn't ask?

When you hear the question, "Does science disprove a real God?" what is your first thought/response?

Have you ever considered the four options for the creation of the universe? (The universe: 1) is an illusion 2) created itself 3) is eternal 4) was created by something eternal) At a glance, what seems logical to you?

Scientists who do not believe in God or that He created the universe argue at some point in time – nothing came from something, and ultimately that all first life came from no life. What holes do you see in this argument? How does this compare to the Cosmological Argument that states – "Everything that exists has a cause. The universe exists therefore it has a cause"?

Why is it reasonable to believe God is real and created the universe?

What does the Bible say about God and creation? And what does it mean for us?

What does this mean for us?
